Bee Hive Girls Celebrate Anniversary

By a Swarm Leader

The Bee Hive Girls celebrated the 21st anniversary of their organization Tuesday evening, when they invited the Scouts of the two Raymond Wards to join with them in a weiner roast on Temple Hill.

The following is an excerpt from the diary of one who was there.

Our swarm reached the top of Temple Hill, the windiest spot in Southern Alberta, about seven o'clock. As we looked back along the road we saw 5 or 6 more swarms plodding along the highway like groups of tiny ants, gazing across plowed ground towards town we saw several groups of scouts wending their way towards the rendezvous.

One group of scouts having arrived before us had the wood all piled and ready to light our beacon fire.

As soon as most of the groups arrived we played several get acquainted games; I mean the girls did. The boys seemed bashful, or frightened of the wind, anyway, they stayed in the shelter of the club house. We played games until our eyes, ears, and mouths were full of dust then we went into the clubhouse and sang songs, the boys joined in with us this time.

By eight o'clock the clouds began to look pretty ominous, so it was decided that the scouts should carry the wood down into one of the gravel pits. In less than half an hour wicked streaks of lightning flashed across our vision and warning peals of thunder reached our ears.

A council of war was held as to the advisability of carrying on. The "T's" won and we stayed to eat our weiners.

The fire was quickly kindled and weiners were soon sizzling over the hot blaze.

It was about this time that Sam Dyson went to the top of the hill and sent out our signal "Service to all Mankind" and we certainly had a chance to stand by our motto. The signal was answered from the top of the 2nd Ward Church.

The weiners were just frying fine when suddenly it began to literally pour down, and then hail. We all made a dash for the club house and stayed there until the first flurry was over. I certainly admired the Bee Hives and scouts, the older ones helped the smaller children to shelter and comforted those that were frightened.

We finished eating our weiners and peanuts in the club house in the dark.

When the storm first started several cars left town and came out to take us home, and thanks to them, only a few of us got wet, and we dried out over the camp fire between lulls in the storm.

The last of us left the fire around nine o'clock and started for home in Sam's buggy, which was much better than having to walk. At the foot of the hill Hamp Witbeck met us with the factory bus. I was never more glad to see a car in all my life. The bunch he took home want to thank him here, and also the ones who were responsible for sending him out to us. It saved us from getting another good soaking.

I have sometimes wondered if the boys nowadays were as chivalrous as they were when dad was a boy, but after seeing the actions of the Scouts Tuesday night I know they are. In everything that was done the comfort of the Bee-Hive girls came first, then the scouts

LYDELL ROBERTS

DOING FINE

Glowing reports come from the Tongan Mission where Lydell, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Roberts is laboring. The language is coming to him rapidly, and he has a natural pronunciation for the native language, which makes him feel good, and is also a great help to the missionary.

The people seem to be anxious to hear the message of Mormonism, and Lydell says he would rather be in the Friendly Isles than any place on earth. We wish him health and continued success in his labors.

NEWS NOTES

Constable Ellis of Magrath was here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams have moved back to Raymond for the summer months.

Solon E. Low was a Raymond visitor Monday evening on business.

E. S. Duncan, Editor of the Banff Crag and Canyon has been elected Chairman of the Banff Advisory Council. Congratulations "Sid".

Because of the need of rebuilding some sections, the proposed hard surfacing of the road from Coutts to Lethbridge and Carway to Macleod, has been postponed for this year, according to the Highways Department.

Get set Folks! There will be big news soon regarding the Swimming Pool. When work starts we expect everyone in Raymond to do their share. Will you help?

History was made on Wednesday when the retiring Stake Presidency, H. S. Allen O. H. Snow and J. W. Evans, and the newly appointed Presidency, T. Geo. Wood, Heber F. Allen and Melvin T. King, all six attended the Temple session Wednesday afternoon at Cardston. Pres. O. H. Snow said it was the only time as far as he could remember when all three of the retiring Presidency were at the Temple at the same session together.

Some may not have thought that they had such a grand time but I personally would not exchange my experience out there for anything, and I salute the Scouts and Bee-Hive girls for showing what real sports we have here in Raymond.

T. Geo. Wood Succeeds H. S. Allen As Stake President

The Quarterly Conference of the Taylor Stake of Zion convened Saturday evening and Sunday of last week, with Elder Geo. F. Richards of the Council of the Twelve presiding at all sessions, and Pres. H. S. Allen taking charge.

Saturday evening's meeting was addressed by Elder O. H. Snow of the Stake Presidency on "Authority", Bishop Elmer Ririe of Magrath First Ward on the Missionary System of the Church, Bishop Heninger of the Magrath Second Ward on People Choosing the pleasure of the Earth in preference to the Riches of the Kingdom of Heaven, and Elder Geo. F. Richards on the spirit of the people of the world with respect to relief.

He asked "What have we done that we feel the world owes us a living?" and then pointed to the many blessings that we have received from our fellow men which makes us indebted to them for more than we shall ever be able to repay. He urged the people to greater diligence and stated that if we paid $1 per year the Church would be able to care for her own poor.

He also urged a better payment of tithing so that we could claim the blessings promised to the faithful.

SUNDAY MORNING

Stake Supt. T. Geo. Wood conducted the Sunday morning session and short addresses and reports were given by Mrs. Louis Brandley, Mrs. C. R. Wing and Sister Woolley of Salt Lake on Primary work in its different phases.

M. Lynn Bennion of the Church Sunday School Board then conducted a lesson period bringing out the Lesson Enrichment by pictures, questions, and short talks, he made a most interesting and instructive period of this, which included short talks and testimonies by Mrs. Bennion, Mrs. Woolley, J. U. Allred, Mrs. O. H. Snow, Mrs. Emj Weed, Jas E. Barker, M. P. Strong, and B. J. Coombs.

Brother Richards spoke briefly and brought out this thought "When we are working in the Organizations of the Church, we are working with the Lord in the salvation of others as well as ourselves."

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

When the Sunday afternoon session commenced the Stake House was packed to the doors, as it had become common knowledge that a change was to be made in the Stake Presidency, which also occasioned a change in a number of the other organizations. Long before the meeting commenced the seats were all taken and standing room was at a premium. Seated on the stand were members of both the Alberta and Lethbridge Stake Presidencies.

Elder Richards as glad to see so many present to help make history in changing the Stake Presidency. He paid a high tribute to Pres. Allen and his Councilors, and especially Pres. Allen, who for 34 years had served the people of Canada faithfully and well as Stake President.

He then released the following, calling for a vote of thanks for their past labors in each case.

Pres. Allen and Councilors O. H. Snow and J. W. Evans

from the Stake Presidency.

T. Geo. Wood, and his assistants Rulon Dahl and Milo Vance from the Stake Sunday School Superintendency.

Bishop Heber Allen and Councilors Pau H. Redd and C. E. Alfred as the Bishopric of the Raymond First Ward.

Melvin T. King and Chas. R. Wing from the High Council of the Stake.

Following these releases, the following were sustained in the order named:

T. Geo. Wood, Pres., Heber F. Allen and Melvin T. King as the Presidency of the Taylor Stake of Zion.

Frank R. Taylor, Rulon Dahl and Milo Vance as the Stake Sunday School Superintendency.

J. O. Hicken as Bishop of the Raymond First Ward, with C. R. Wing and J. Golden Snow as Councilors.

Pres. O. H. Snow then presented the General Church authorities and the remainder of the Stake authorities, and they were unanimously sustained.

Mrs. C. F. Steel of Lethbridge sang, "Ye Ransomed of My Father."

Pres. H. S. Allen spoke of experiences during his term of office and of the steady growth and progress of the work. He, as well as Elders Snow and Evans who followed him, wished for the success of the new presidency, and the continued growth and progress of the work.

The new Presidency were all three called on to speak, and each expressed their appreciation of the leadership of the retiring officials, and the hope that they would prove equal to their responsibility.

Elder Richards hoped the members of the Stake would offer their services to the new officers, and make them feel that they had their support 100 per cent. He cautioned the people against portraying the weaknesses of their leaders, and said that if we could not speak well, we had better not speak at all.

The Stake Choir under the direction of Wm. C. Stone was present at all of the sessions and rendered very nice music, being assisted Sunday afternoon by an orchestra, a number of whom came from Lethbridge.

Credit is due Mr. Stone for the time and effort that went into the preparation of the music for the Conference.

M.L.A. PROGRAM SUNDAY EVENING

The Stake Mutuals had the program Sunday evening, and the Mutual Choruses of the Stake contributed several numbers and the Male Quartette of F. R. Taylor and Co.

The speakers were Roland Weed, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lynn Bennion, Mrs. Woolley and Elder Geo. F. Richards.

All conference meetings were well attended and were interesting and very instructive.

Two and three quarters million dollars were distributed in Alberta last week in the Wheat Pool price adjustment payment on the 1936 crop. Who says there's no Santa Claus.

A large number of people from the Alberta and Lethbridge Stakes were in attendance at the Conference session on Sunday.

The Municipal Council met Tuesday afternoon in regular session and spent most of their time on Seed Grain Relief and Road questions. The Seed relief question has been a knotty one, and it is surprising how many farmers have endeavored "to work" the Council on this question. It is bad enough to have to ask for assistance when there is no other way, but to ask under false pretences seems to be taking it too far, and it makes it harder for the needy to be served.

The most joyful news of the session for people generally was the announcement that the Council had voted unanimously to ask the Government to gravel the road between Raymond and the Sunshine Trail, and to leave the matter of choosing the route up to the Government engineers. Every time the road has been mentioned in the past there has been so much contention that the Public Works Department have just refused to commence because of the divided opinion. Realizing that there are good and sufficient reasons on both sides to make a splendid argument, those sponsoring the move decided to compromise and let the engineering department of the Government route the road without any local pressure whatsoever, and then hope that everyone would be satisfied.

Solon Low, local M. L. A. has been contacted concerning the matter, expressing the opinion that if the people were united in their request, that the road would be included in this summer's appropriations, partly to assist in relief, and so the Municipal Council voted unanimously for the proposition as stated. We understand the request has already been made for the construction of the road.

MOTHER AND HOME

To the tune of (De Ooley Ay) (By Sidney B. Smith)

I often dream of Home and Mother dear,

And how I wish tonight that I were there!

I see her standing by the cottage door,

The lamp light gently streaming on the floor.

Long dreary years have passed since I did roam

Far from my mother's smile and Home Sweet Home

I'd give the world right now her face to see,

And tell her that she means so much to me.

Chorus:—

Oh Mother you're the one I always love

You're like an angel sent from Heaven above

I always think of you where'er I roam

And pray that God will care for you at Home.

Tis sweet to dream of Home and Mother dear,

And tho' I cannot come I'll say a prayer

And ask our Father in the Realm above

To bid his angels guard the one I love.

Some day I hope and trust I will return,

And see the one for whom I always yearn,

Then from her side I'll never never roam,

But with my Mother stay at Home Sweet Home.

MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday next, the people of many countries will pause in their daily programs to do homage to mother, the greatest character in the world, and the one to whom every man owes his all, be it much or little.

So much has been said in word and song, that there is little, if anything new or different to be said on the subject. It is, however, certainly worthwhile and fitting that one day each year, our mother's be the honored guest of the day. The other 361 days of the year Mother always plays host. We bring home our friends and she entertains them uncomplainingly, whether they be one, two or a dozen. We never go home at meal time and find the table empty, and if we are late to meals there is always something for us. When our shirts socks, and so on need mending, mother always has time or finds time to fix them up, and when we sit down and rest because we have been working SO HARD, mother keeps busy with mending, knitting or something, and not until the last of the brood is safely tucked in bed does she close her eyes for a few hours of sleep, sometimes troubled at that by the acts or thoughtlessness of the children, whom she offered her life on the altar of sacrifice for to give them life and a body for their spirit.

On Mother's Day in tributes of flowers, gifts, word and song we honor the peer of all God's creations. How much easier would be HER lot if we made every day a Mother's Day and tried by planning and helping to make her lot easier. Without too much of the flowery words which might be said, let us remember that our whole life is circumscribed by the life, love and devotions of mother; and that while to Father we owe much for his counsel, advice, and financial assistance, to mother we owe the yearnings of mother heart, the tears shed over our illness, the hours of floor walking occasioned by babyhood, and childhood ills, and the mother love that reaches out through the darkest hours of temptation and trial of our life to turn our steps and thoughts to home.

Her spirit of service is well summed up in the following verses by Edgar A. Guest, which we trust expresses the feelings of our readers to the subject of Mother's Day.

"MOTHER"

Never a sigh for the cares that she bore for me,
Never a thought of the joys that flew by;

Her one regret that she couldn't do more for me,
Thoughtless and selfish, her Master was I.

Oh, the long nights that she came at me, call to me!
Oh, the soft touch of her hands on my brow!
Oh, the long years that she gave up her all to me!
Oh, how I yearn for her gentle

Slave to her baby! Yes, that was the way of her,
Counting her greatest of services small;
Words cannot tell what this old heart would say of her,
Mother — the sweetest and fairest of all.

DEAD SEA CALLED WORLD'S CHEMICAL STOREHOUSE

ABUNDANT INTAKE OF WATER FROM RIVER JORDAN AND SPRINGS, WITHOUT ANY OUTLET, IS EVAPORATED BY HEAT OF THE SUN AND ALMOST CONTINUOUS FORCE OF WINDS

LONDON — Containing 40,000,000,000 metric tons of valuable salts in solution, the Dead

Sea was described as a chemical storehouse of the world by Mr. M. A. Novomeysky, prominent mining engineer in Palestine, who read a paper before the Institution of Chemical Engineers here recently.

Mr. Novomeysky pointed out that with its average level some 1,300 feet below the Mediterranean sea level, and with a depth of another 1,300 feet, the Dead Sea is the lowest point on the world's land surface. It is 17 miles long with a maximum width of 9 miles.

GREAT NATURAL RESERVOIR

How the Dead Sea became so saturated with valuable mineral salts—so saturated with them that it is impossible to sink in its waters, has been a matter of conjecture for many years, the speaker continued. The sea fills part of a great rift in the surface of the earth, and it represents a great natural reservoir without any outlet.

From the River Jordan and from the Judean Hills by way of Subterranean springs, Mr. Novomeysky said, the Dead Sea receives 8,800,000 cubic meters of water every day. Its only method of discharge to make way for such a huge intake is by the rapid evaporation of the water under the glowing oppressive heat and the almost continual winds which rapidly disperse the eight rainless months.

INVESTIGATED FOR CENTURIES

The Dead Sea has been matter of investigation for centuries, Mr. Novomeysky continued, and during the last 100 years there have been expeditions to its shores from England, America, France and Germany. These investigations have now been revealed how the evaporation of the waters has left behind a vast "storehouse of chemicals."

Salts of potash and magnesium and calcium are brought in to the Sea by the waters of the Jordan, and bromine comes in from the hot springs of Herod's Bath that have been known from Roman times.

MURIATE OF POTASH

One of the most valuable salts found in it although in lesser quantities than others, is muriate of potash, of which more than 2,000,000,000 tons are thought to be present.

Mr. Novomeysky explained how the recovery of these valuable salts has been developing to a substantial industry in Palestine. 25,000 to 30,000 tons of potash now being produced annually, with scope for expansion to 100,000 tons a year. More than 100 tons of bromine are being produced annually at present.—Christian Science Monitor

SEPARATION PLANT AND REFINERY WILL BE IN OPERATION NEXT SEPT. DEVELOPING McMURRAY RAY TAR SANDS

COMMERCIAL OIL REFINERY WILL ALSO BE BUILT TO HANDLE 175 BBLS. DAILY

Edmonton, April 29.—Preparing to make an expenditure of $1,500,000 in developing Fort McMurray tar sands, the Abasand Oils, Ltd., will have an initial separation plant and refinery in operation by next September, it was announced Saturday by A. J. Smith, of Kansas City, Mo., vice-president and general manager.

Some 50 men will be employed on preliminary construction and it is expected that the same number will be required when operations at the plant are under way.

Mr. Smith, who is head of the A. J. Smith Engineering Company, has just arrived from the east where he conferred with Max Ball, president of Abasand Oils, concerning the season's program.

Of special interest is Mr. Smith's announcement that in addition to the 250-ton separator plant, erection of which will commence within a few weeks, a commercial oil refinery also will be built at Fort McMurray, this will have a capacity of 175 barrels a day.

During next fall and winter equipment will be shipped north for a 3,000-ton separator plant and oil refinery to be put into operation in 1937. Mr. Smith explained. The general manager stated that all materials and supplies possible will be purchased in this city. He will go north next Tuesday and return to the city possibly at the end of the week, before returning to the field.

"At present, we are having surveys made for a road to run from the end of steel at Waterways across to the plant site, possibly a distance of two to three miles," said Mr. Smith.

The construction of the road would be a gravelled all-weather road, over which the separation plant equipment would be hauled. Estimates were being obtained on the road construction.

"The equipment for the separation is now being built by the Canadian Locomotive Works at Kingston, Ontario, under the supervision of James McClave, who has been associated with Mr. Ball for some time; as soon as the equipment is ready, it will be given a mechanical test and then shipped. It should be moving through this city to Waterways in from six to eight weeks," said Mr. Smith.

The erection of the refinery would be carried on at the same time as the separation plant was being built, said Mr. Smith. Products of the refinery would include gasoline, diesel engine fuel and road oils.

Fred W. Sage, of Colorado, has been appointed general construction superintendent and field engineer for the company. He is now engaged in completing a power plant for the company and will arrive here shortly to take over his duties at McMurray.—Lethbridge Herald.

WEEKLY LETTER

CRESTED WHEAT AS A LAWN GRASS

A fresh, green looking crested wheat grass lawn at the district Experiment Sub-Station, when all native vegetation was still quite brown, has prompted your weekly letter writer to quote the following from Pamphlet 157 N.S., Dom. Dept. of Agriculture.

"Crested wheat grass was tested for the first time as a turf grass in 1930 at the University of Saskatchewan. Its use for this purpose was suggested by the fact that a satisfactory grass for farm lawns was not available to the farmer living in the drier sections of the Prairie Provinces. Crested wheat grass seemed to offer possibilities for this purpose because of its great drought resistance, ability to control weeds, and tolerance of close clipping. Further encouragement was given to try the experiment by having a strain with fine leafy stems and practically free from the tufted habit of growth. This original lawn has been close clipped with a lawn mower during four successive seasons. At time of writing the stand is as good as ever with no evidence of thinning. Weeds have never been able to invade the lawn and it has always presented an attractive appearance except in hot dry weather. It is the first patch of green to appear in the spring and the last to disappear in the fall. The lawn has never been watered, even in the driest periods.

Since the first lawn was established a considerable number of experimental lawns have been laid down. Tests have been made on the effect of seeding at different times throughout the season and on cutting at different stages of growth. Early spring and fall seeding have been best. Stage of clipping seems to make very little difference. The grass will tolerate close clipping or less frequent cuttings may be made without materially affecting the lawn. The seed should be broadcast evenly on a very well prepared seed bed and plenty of seed should be used. Best results have been obtained by sowing 1 pound of seed per square rod.

The grass has also been tested on city and farm lawns, and it has never failed to give satisfaction. It is not recommended, however, for locations which receive sufficient precipitation to grow Kentucky blue grass or Chew-ing's fescue, or for city lawns where artificial watering is possible. This is not to say that crested wheat grass does not respond to watering. As a matter of fact it has given very good satisfaction on city lawns which have been watered regularly. But under such conditions there are other grasses which will produce a finer turf and more pleasing appearance. Crested wheat grass, on the other hand will stand more rough usage and neglect.

It is on the farms in the drier sections of the country, however, that crested wheat grass is most valuable as a lawn grass because it has no competitor and because it will stand hard treatment and endure long periods of drought without injury. These characteristics make it suitable also for use on golf course fairways, rural school grounds, and town boulevards where watering is not feasible.

It must not be expected that crested wheat grass will present the fine appearance and finish of a well-watered Kentucky blue grass or Cheving's Fescue lawn. During hot dry weather it will turn brown and cease to grow. With the return of moisture, however, it will very quickly become green again. The appearance in spring and fall months is very pleasing and it has never been known to suffer injury from drought or winter temperatures.

Crested wheat grass is being tested also in Eastern Canada as a turf grass but preliminary experiments have not been promising. It seems to be particularly adapted to the drier sections of the western plains area just as blue grass is highly adapted to Ontario and Quebec and bent grasses to the Maritime Provinces.

The rain on Wednesday soaked up all the holes on Broadway again, so that cars and trucks could fall through without any trouble. They did.

JOHN SR.: "Well, son, I'm glad you are doing so well with the outfit. You are going through my old experiences of hard but satisfying work. We are happy now to rest."

JOHN JR.: "You deserve to rest after all your years of hard work and I realize I owe all this opportunity to you and mother. I have often heard you say how successful she was with the poultry and dairying end of the business."

JOHN SR.: "Thank you, son, but we don't deserve all the credit. In 1900 when we had only a homestead and preemption, with shack and barn, and had to haul water five miles and drive 20 miles to market, the Bank of Montreal made me the seasonal loans I needed to carry on. In five years we had clear title to the 320 acres and three years later owned 640, with good buildings and equipment. The bank kept on lending for harvesting and feeding, because I carried out my contracts and kept my credit good. You remember, son, we sold out in 1919 for cash, and were able to retire. You were lucky to rent the old place, for it's a good one."

JOHN JR.: "I am lucky, father, and I am trying to live up to your reputation."

Some of the Bank's services to farmers and ranchers: Business chequing accounts; savings accounts; safekeeping of securities and documents; loans for seeding, harvesting, equipment, feeding, purchasing feeders, etc.; money orders; financing shipments; advice on credits; banking by mail.
